Dear Friend,

If you are in need of shelter this winter, we hope that one of our regional shelters will provide you with a safe place to sleep at night along with help to get your life back on track. These are night-time shelters. During the day, we would like you to be out in the community working on your own self-development. We can provide support and help but you must do your part. We know this may be a discouraging time for you but we want to encourage you to keep moving forward.

Our North County shelters are all part of a regional system. You may not move from one shelter to another unless you have a specific reason such as finding a job in the other location.

When you apply to be in our four larger shelters, you will be tested for drugs. We will also ask you to take a breathalyzer test each evening when you come to the shelter, to maintain an alcohol-free environment. There will also be drug testing randomly and whenever someone's conduct or appearance calls for it.

Please do not panhandle or loiter in public places. This means no standing with a sign asking for money, stopping strangers and asking for money, or loitering in public places. Although a few people might stop and give some money, many others will complain to authorities and this puts our shelters at risk. Public complaints about panhandling and loitering will make it difficult for us to continue to provide the winter shelters.

You will meet each week with your case manager in the evening at the shelter to discuss your progress. Your case manager will then issue you a voucher for your next week in the shelter. Each of our shelters has its own set of house rules to assure the safety and comfort of all residents and to comply with the requirements of each organization. If you follow these house rules and work seriously with your case manager, we believe you can achieve a better situation. We wish you well.
