Rebuttal to Argument in Opposition to Prop F

Vote YES on PROP F to hold politicians accountable to the majority.

Prop F will require that candidates be elected by a majority of voters, not just a small plurality. Majority elections currently work well throughout the county, state, and country.

Prop F SAVES MILLIONS OF TAX DOLLARS by forcing politicians to serve the whole city - not just pander to special interest groups!

While the opposition claims that elections are an inconvenience, Prop F ensures that voters have a stronger voice in government.

The cost of majority elections is miniscule, but the savings created through greater accountability to the majority are enormous.

In 2005, Mayor Wood, Councilwoman Sanchez, and Councilwoman Mackin - all elected with less than a majority - bowed to demands from a small, vocal opposition group by canceling the critically needed Rancho Del Oro interchange. Oceanside residents now have to waste time and gas fighting more traffic on College and El Camino Real for decades.

In 2010 Councilman Lowery and Councilwoman Sanchez, both elected without a majority of votes, joined Mayor Wood to approve one-sided union contracts that were over budget by $2,500,000. The city now has to cut public safety, parks, and libraries to pay for these contracts.

With Prop F, politicians elected with less than a majority of the vote can no longer hurt Oceanside residents with their pandering to public employee unions and other special interests.

Join Oceanside residents and the San Diego County Taxpayers Association by VOTING YES ON PROP F.
