OCEANSIDE HISTORIC PRESERVATION ADVISORY COMMISSION

DATE: March 1, 2011

TO: Chairman and Members of OHPAC

FROM: Development Services Department/Planning Division

SUBJECT: CONSIDERATION OF A HISTORIC PERMIT (H11-00001) LOCALLY DESIGNATING THE PROPERTY AND SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENCE LOCATED AT 618 SOUTH FREEMAN STREET AND REFERRED TO AS THE RUTHERFORD PROPERTY AS A LOCAL HISTORIC RESOURCE WITHIN THE CITY OF OCEANSIDE AND SITUATED WITHIN THE TOWNSITE NEIGHBORHOOD – APPLICANT: LARRY BECK

RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the Oceanside Historic Preservation Advisory Commission adopt OHPAC Resolution No. 2011-H01 recommending approval of a Historic Permit (H11-00001) to the City Council for final action.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION AND BACKGROUND

The subject site under consideration is referred to as the Rutherford property, and is legally described as Lot 12, Block 43 of the Bryans Addition which was the first recorded subdivision of the lot back in 1885. The subject lot traded hands several times up until 1926 when it was developed by Ed and Annie Rutherford with a 926-square foot Craftsman Bungalow style residence. The current property owner Mr. Larry Beck has requested that his property be considered for designation as a locally significant historic resource within the City of Oceanside.

In 1992, the City of Oceanside conducted a cultural resource survey with over 260 sites being examined. Included in these 260+ sites, was the 600 block of South Freeman Street where 12 resources were identified as potentially significant historical resources and placed within the 1992 Cultural Resource Survey. The 12 sites did not include 618 South Freeman, but further research clearly shows that 618 South Freeman was part of the larger development where 12 resources were identified, and was accidentally overlooked.

The Craftsman Bungalow style residence remains fully intact as originally developed with the exception of a small addition constructed in 1944 on the rear of the house and a second addition connecting the house to the detached single car garage located on the rear of the property in 2010. In all, the additions added approximately 500 square feet to the 924-square foot house. The front portion of the house was recently restored in 2010 with like materials and new paint. Although the single-family residence has been modified from its original construction, the additions and restorations to the residence has not altered the structures original historic fabric established during its original construction dating back to 1926.

Site Review: The proposed site under consideration for designation as a locally significant resource has a zoning designation of (RS), Single-Family Residential, and a General Plan Land Use designation of (SFD-R), Single-Family Residential Detached. The subject resource is part of an enclave of residences constructed by a single builder and all within the 600 block of Freeman. The project site is a rectangular, relatively flat parcel that is fully landscaped and developed as a single-family residence.

Surrounding land uses within the 600 Block of Freeman include similar Bungalow Style single-family residences, with Single-Family Residential to the east and north, a mix of Commercial land uses to the west, and a Religious Assembly and School type land use to the south. The resource under consideration is situated on the east side of South Freeman Street between Minnesota Avenue to the north, Wisconsin Avenue to the south, Ditmar Street to the east and South Coast Highway to the west within the Townsite neighborhood.

Project Description: The project application is comprised of one component: a Historic Permit (H) as follows:

Historic Permit H11-00001 represents a request for the following:

- (a) A Historic Permit is required in order to have a site or area locally designated as a historic resource within the City of Oceanside pursuant to City Code Chapter 14A Section 14A.7.

The project is subject to the following Ordinances and City policies:

1. General Plan
2. City Code Chapter 14A
3. California Environmental Quality Act

ANALYSIS

KEY PLANNING ISSUES

1. General Plan Conformance

The resource under consideration to be designated as a Local Historic Resource is situated within the Townsite Neighborhood and together with other resources in the 600 Block of Freeman Street create a neighborhood character consisting of Craftsman Bungalow style development. The proposed designation of the resource as a Locally Historic Resource is consistent with the goals and objectives of the City's General Plan as follows:

A. Land Use Element I. Community Enhancement

Goal: The consistent, significant, long term preservation and improvement of the environment, values, aesthetics, character, and image of Oceanside as a safe, attractive, desirable, and well-balanced community.

1.33 Historic Areas and Sites

Policy A: The City shall utilize adopted criteria, such as the "Mission San Luis Rey Historic Area Development Program and Design Guidelines," to preserve and further enhance designated historic or cultural resources.

Staff has reviewed the request to designate the resource as a Local Historic Resource and has determined that designating the resource is consistent with the intent of the General Plan Land Use Element Section III. Natural Resource Management for Cultural Resources to protect resources of historic significance. Designation of the resource as historic will allow conservation and protection of the significant resource for future historic and educational purposes, thus providing a link to the past and a snapshot of the development timeline of the City of Oceanside.

2. City Code Chapter 14A Compliance

Key Issues:

1. Is this property appropriate for consideration and designation as a Local Historic Resource; and,
2. Does the resource retain its original historic context considering the two additions?

Discussion:

Under the criterion of the City's Historic Preservation Code, the State of California Register of Historical Resources, and CEQA, the property has been determined to possess local historical significance and maintains integrity based upon the structures location, materials, workmanship, and feeling. (See Exhibit A, Cultural Resource Report for 618 South Freeman Street) Under CEQA, the subject resource qualifies for listing under the architectural aspect of Criterion C. As for the 500 square feet of room additions constructed in 1944 and 2010, and maintaining the historical integrity of the original structure, it has been determined that the new additions if removed in the future would reveal the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment and would be unimpaired. From that perspective, it is appropriate to recommend to the City Council that the property be locally designated as being historically significant.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION

Planning Division staff has completed a preliminary review of this project in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), 1970. Based on that review, staff finds that the proposed project is covered by the "General Rule" Article 5; Section 15061 (b) (3), that CEQA applies only to projects which have the potential for causing a significant effect on the environment. Where it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that the activity in question may have a significant effect on the environment, the activity is not subject to CEQA.

RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the Oceanside Historic Preservation Advisory Commission adopt OHPAC Resolution No. 2011-H01 recommending approval of Historic Permit (H11-00001) to the City Council for final action.

RESOLUTION NO. 2011-H01

A RESOLUTION OF THE OCEANSIDE HISTORIC PRESERVATION
ADVISORY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF OCEANSIDE, CALIFORNIA RECOMMENDING APPROVAL OF A REQUEST TO DESIGNATE A PROPERTY AS A HISTORICAL SITE ON CERTAIN REAL PROPERTY LOCATED IN THE CITY OF OCEANSIDE

APPLICATION NO.: H11-00001
APPLICANT: Larry Beck
LOCATION: 618 South Freeman Street

THE OCEANSIDE HISTORIC PRESERVATION ADVISORY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF OCEANSIDE, CALIFORNIA DOES RESOLVE AS FOLLOWS:

WHEREAS, there was filed with this Commission a verified petition on the forms prescribed by the Commission requesting a historic permit under the provisions of the Historical Preservation Ordinance (82-41) and Article 21 of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Oceanside to permit the following:

to designate the property and residence located at 618 South Freeman Street as a Local Historic Resource on certain real property described in the project description.

WHEREAS, the Oceanside Historic Preservation Advisory Commission, after giving the required notice, did on the 1st day of March, 2011, conduct a duly advertised public hearing as prescribed by law to consider said application.

WHEREAS, studies and investigations made by this Commission and in its behalf reveal the following facts:

FINDINGS:

1. The 618 South Freeman Street resource is a good, local example of modest Craftsman architecture, displaying many features common to this style; therefore, qualifying for local listing under the architectural aspect of Criterion C under CEQA.
2. That the resource has retained its historic integrity by possessing the following aspects that convey and maintain its significance as a local historic resource:

- 1 a) The resource has remained the same since construction in 1926; therefore,
2 retaining its location element for integrity purposes.
- 3 b) The building contains a sufficient degree of the workmanship used in its
4 execution; therefore, illustrating that the building possesses a workmanship
5 element for integrity purposes.
- 6 c) The house retains its Craftsman style feeling; therefore, retaining its feeling
7 element for integrity purposes.

8 3. That application of the Secretary of the Interior's Standards to the resource at 618
9 South Freeman Street has determined the following:

- 10 a) The use of resource as a residence remains unchanged.
- 11 b) The historic character of the residence has been retained and preserved.
12 Distinctive materials have not been removed and the character defining 13 relationships of the building were not altered, and all additions to the residence 14 lie behind the house and are out of public view.
- 15 c) The addition to the house does not alter the physical record of the building's 16 time, place, and use.
- 17 d) Historic changes to the house were not present prior to construction of the 18 additions.
- 19 e) All materials, features, finishes, construction techniques, and examples of 20 craftsmanship were preserved or restored.
- 21 f) All deteriorated historic features were repaired and/or restored.
- 22 g) Chemical and physical treatments were not used.
- 23 h) Archeological resources are not present.

1 i) Construction of the addition did not destroy historic materials, features, spaces,
2 and spatial relationships that characterized the original building. The addition,
3 while sympathetic in style, is discernible from the existing construction in 4 terms of lineal footprint and the introduction of different door styles and 5 window shapes. The addition design does not replicate that of the existing 6 house and further is compatible in feeling, scale, and mass.

7 j) If the addition were to be removed in the future, the essential form and integrity
8 of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

9 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Oceanside Historic Preservation
10 Advisory Commission does hereby recommend approval of Historic Permit H11-00001 to 11 designate 618 South Freeman Street as a Local Historic Resource.

I. INTRODUCTION

This report details the findings of the evaluation study conducted for the proposed designation of the single-family residence located at 618 S. Freeman Street, Oceanside, California 92054 (Figures 1 and 2). The objective of this study was to determine the historical and architectural significance of the building in terms of eligibility for nomination to the Oceanside Cultural Resources Inventory and to the California Register of Historical Places as defined by the California Environmental Quality Act. The building addition made to the rear of the house was analyzed for compliance with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties, as well.

PROJECT LOCATION

The subject property is located in Section 26, Township 11 South, Range 5 West, on the USGS 7.5' San Luis Rey quadrangle (Figure 2). The legal description of the property is Lot 12, Block 43 of Bryans Addition; the Assessor's Parcel Number is 150-302-11. The building is situated on the east side of S. Freeman Street between Minnesota Avenue to the north, Wisconsin Avenue to the south, Ditmar Street to the east and S. Coast Highway to the west.

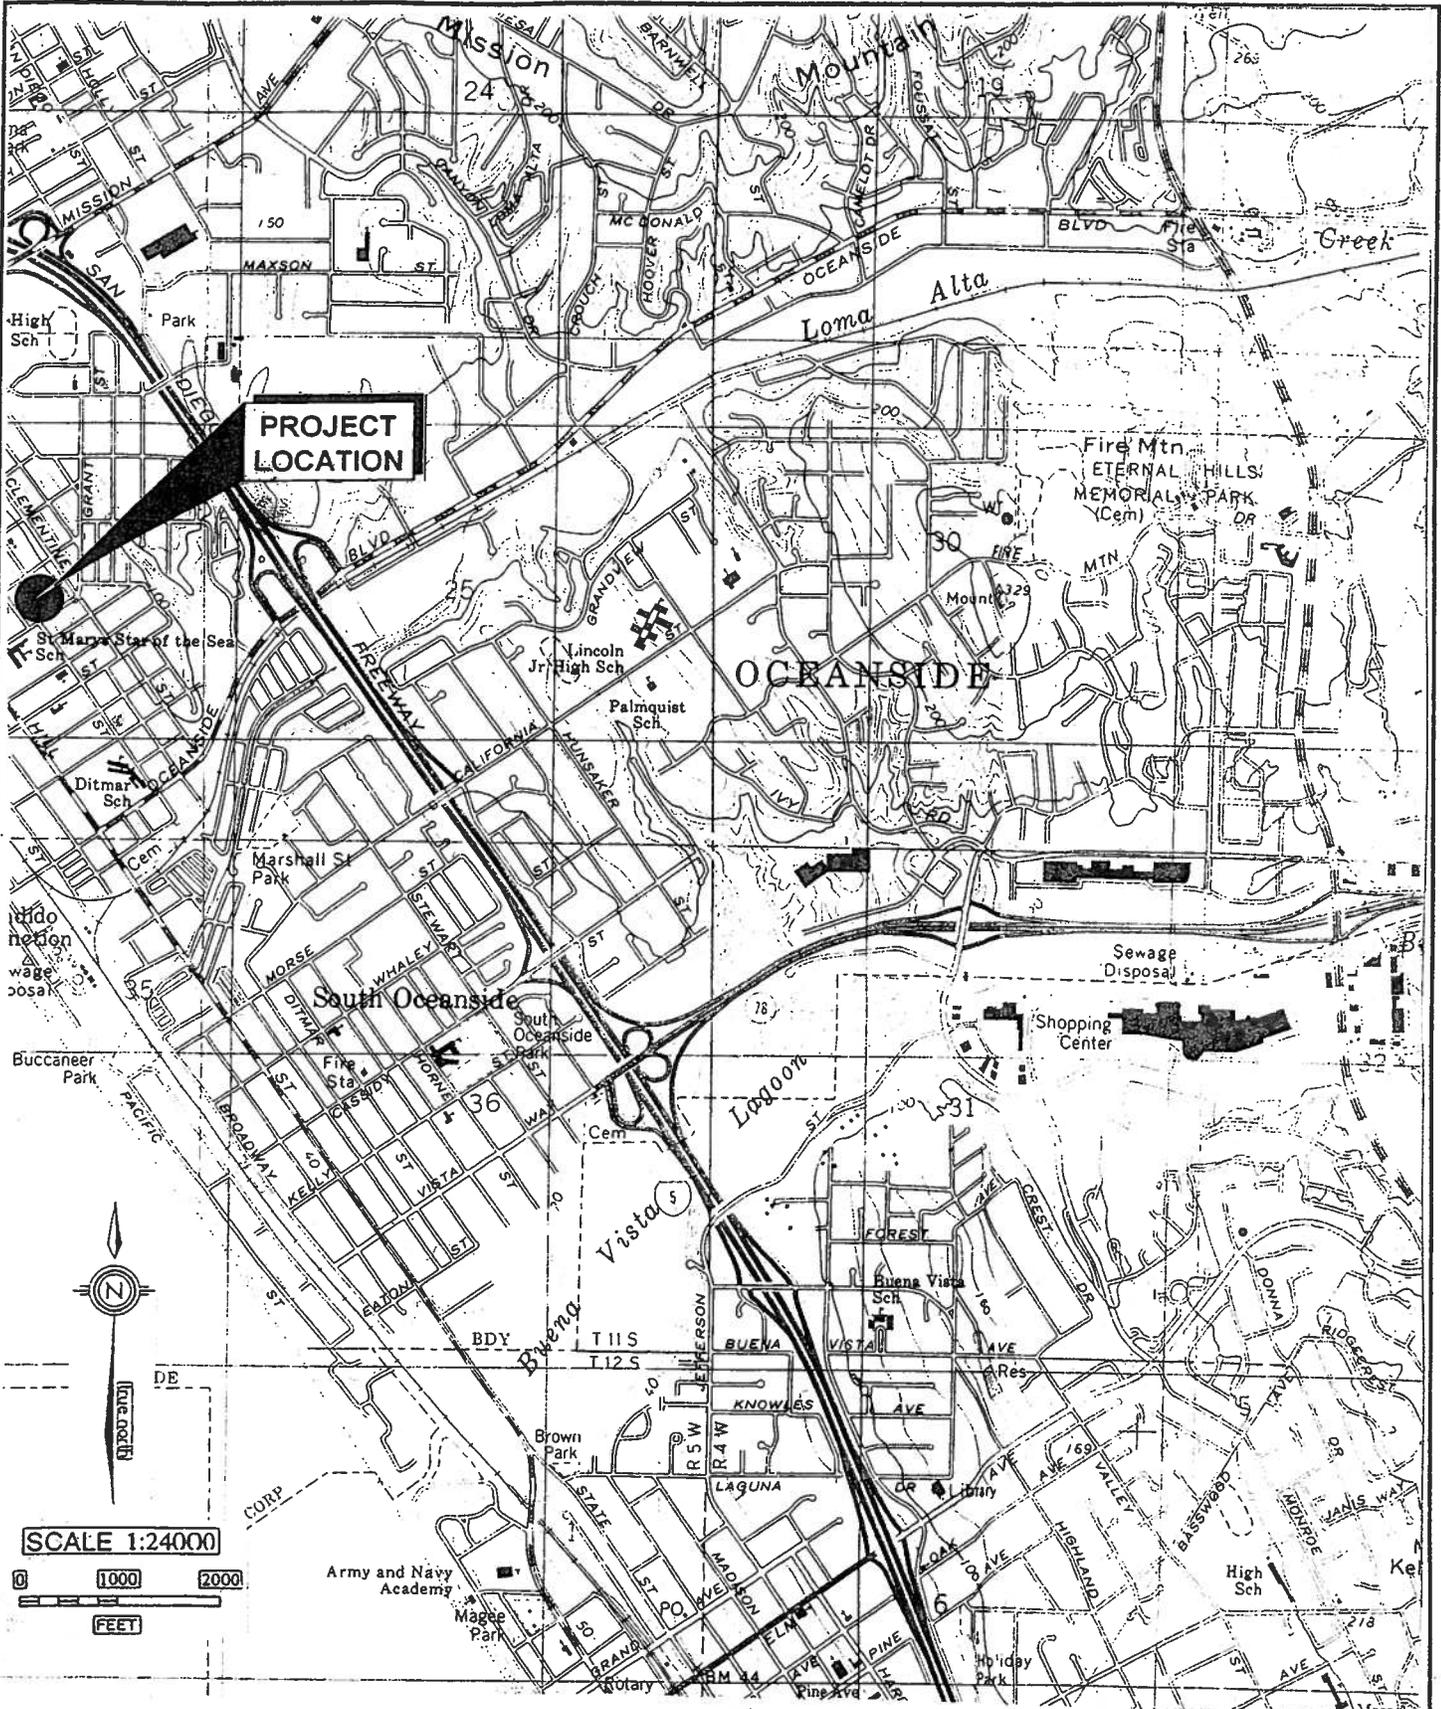

II. HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

The subject resource is located in Bryan's Addition, one of Oceanside's older residential neighborhoods. It is particularly important for its association with the architectural development of the city from the period of 1924 through 1929.

In 1883, Andrew Jackson Myers (variously "Meyers"), a storekeeper residing in San Luis Rey, filed for, and was granted 160 acres located south of Rancho Santa Margarita by the U.S. government as a homestead tract. The subject parcel was included in this tract. Mr. Myers then hired Cave Johnson Coats to survey the land for subdivision into lots. Mr. Myers also gave 20 acres to the California Southern Railroad, wholly owned by the Santa Fe Railroad, for use as a rail corridor in order to encourage development of the area (Blade Tribune 1978; Van Deerlin 1946). This railroad right-of-way exists to the present day.

By the end of 1883, the railroad lines were established, and by 1885, a railroad station had been constructed at what is now the intersection of Mission Avenue and N. Cleveland Street (Van Deerlin 1946). With this accomplished, Myers actively promoted the sale of lots in the tract.

About the same time, another San Luis Rey resident, J. Chauncey Hayes, a prominent jurist became interested in Myer's land promotion. Hayes had actually practiced law long before being admitted to the California Bar in 1890 (Sully and Bigelow 1988:30). As a judge, he had authored the San Luis Rey Statutes, which accorded him powers virtually identical to that of the former Spanish alcaldes. Hayes described himself as “a law unto myself” (Sully and Bigelow 1988:30). Mr. Hayes acquired 1,240 acres in present-day South Oceanside and Carlsbad (Sully and Bigelow 1988). Approximately 300 of these acres were immediately adjacent to Myers holdings. When he, Coutts, and Myers decided they needed to name their fledgling town, Hayes wanted to name it either “La Playa” (The Beach) or “Orilla del Mar” (Shore of the Sea) (Barnard 1969). As owner of the townsite, Myers overrode Hayes and chose “Ocean Side, which Hayes changed to “Oceanside” when he applied for the town’s first post office.

Oceanside was incorporated in 1888 at the height of its first economic boom (1887-1890), which was fueled by land sales promoted by Hayes, and the arrival of the railroad. The population at the time numbered approximately 1,000 residents. Businesses included one furniture store, two livery stables, several merchandise stores, two blacksmiths, one harness shop, three restaurants, three grocery stores, one lumber yard, one drug store, two bakeries, one hardware store, a barber shop, one large and two small hotels, two banks, one wood coal yard, three doctors, two lawyers, and five real estate firms (Carpenter, no date, manuscript on file at the San Diego Historical Society Archives). Retirees were also abundant. Four years later in 1892, in the midst of the economic “bust,” the population dropped to about 450 residents.

From the late 1880s until about 1915, much of Oceanside’s economic, residential, and civic life focused on the areas closest to the railroad. As more people acquired automobiles and the roadway system in and around the city developed, the city expanded. The commercial district grew to the north and east, and residential neighborhoods developed beyond (Bibb and Flanigan 1997). In particular, the focus of business migrated north and eastward to Hill Street, which after 1915, was a segment of the coast highway, U.S. 101 (Bibb and Flanigan 1997). Businesses catering to the road and its travelers flourished. These included café-style restaurants, hotels, motor courts, gas stations, and auto repair facilities.

The community grew slowly, but steadily until World War II. An important draw for Oceanside has always been its climate and beaches. In the early years, Midwesterners in particular took advantage of the railroad to escape brutal winters and humid summers; later with the advent of cars and roads, many Los Angeles residents built weekend homes in Oceanside or drove down to summer rentals on the beach. During World War II, the population swelled as the families of Marines stationed at Camp Pendleton moved to be close to their loved ones. Many of these young families stayed on after the war ended, with new subdivisions of tract houses springing up to accommodate them. Military personnel and their families, as well as retirees continue to be a significant element in the population.

III. METHODS AND RESULTS

Background studies consisting of archival research conducted at the San Diego Historical Society Archives, review of the 1992 Oceanside historic inventory, a field check and documentation of the building by Ruth C. Alter, Archaeos principal, in December, 2010, and examination of the chain of title and Tax Assessor's records including the Residential Building Record (RBR), were conducted as part of the project. Primary, Continuation, and Building, Structure and Object forms for the resource were completed and appear in this report as Appendix A.

DESCRIPTION OF RESOURCE

The resource is an example of a small Craftsman bungalow-style single-family residence (Figure 3). The wood framed, rectangular one story building has a medium pitched, front gabled, composition shingled roof with narrow open eaves and exposed rafters. The roof ridges are crested and a horizontal louvered vent sits beneath the front gable apex. The shiplap-clad house has a symmetrical front facade and rests on a concrete foundation. Wood edge boards define the corners of the house. A shouldered stucco end chimney is located on the south side wall. A recently constructed addition is located behind the original house and links the dwelling to the formerly detached single-car garage at the rear of the property.

The majority of the windows are original to the building and consist of single and paired, rectangular wood framed double hungs with multi-paned uppers and are set inside wide wood trim. Two front focal double hung windows flank the entry door; the multi-paned uppers are original, the lower panes have been replaced with safety glass.

Primary access to the building is from the sidewalk, along a central concrete walkway, up three pier walled concrete steps, to the concrete floored, three quarter length, half walled shiplap-clad porch. Two round columns on simple plinths support the front gabled porch roof. Low brick planters run along the front portions of the porch. The original wide single Craftsman-style wood entry door has an upper glass pane with multiple lites.

The original single-car garage takes access from a short concrete driveway off the alley located east of the property. The garage roof is front gabled and the walls are clad with shiplap siding. The original wood sliding garage door has been retained.

Landscaping consists of well-maintained front and rear lawns and flower beds. The side yards and a portion of the rear of the yard are enclosed by high wood fencing and by the garage. The landscaping is in excellent condition. The Residential Building Record describes the architectural attributes and workmanship of the house as average. The house has been maintained and has been restored to excellent condition.

The current owner restored the front of the house as part of the 2010 project, which also added the new portion of the house. Views of the house prior to restoration are shown in Figure 4. The addition, which is completely obscured from public view, enclosed a previous breezeway between an older small addition constructed in 1974, the rear of the existing house, and the garage. It includes bump outs on the north and south sides of the house, a new patio leading out into the back yard, and a new pergola-covered patio on the south side of the house, and a gable-covered porch on the east side of the house.

HISTORY OF OWNERSHIP

Most of the early history of the subject property is associated with real estate speculation. According to the chain of title prepared by California Lot Books, the first recorded deed transaction associated with the property occurred in June, 1887, when local land investor A.L. Bryan sold a half interest in a large number of holdings, including the subject lot, to David C. Reed. Mr. Bryan had previously subdivided the tract in 1885, which is named for him. Mr. Reed was a real estate developer, who purchased his interest in the property for $35,000, a very large sum of money for the time.

The men sold all of Block 43 to W.H. Cook of Monrovia, California and C. De Roberts of Albion, Nebraska for $4,000.00 in March, 1888. Mr. Cook and Mr. De Roberts and their wives sold the block along with other holdings to Frederick and Agnes Gregg in June, 1900. Mr. Gregg was also a real estate developer who resided in Redlands at the time of the transaction.

About two years later, Karl G. Wells and his wife Marie acquired title to the parcels previously owned by Gregg. Mr. Wells also of Redlands, was a real estate broker and investor. After selling the subject lot in 1903, Mr. Wells subsequently built the Breakers Hotel in 1904 on one of the other parcels he owned; he built himself a residence on another of his properties on Pacific Street.

The Oceanside Improvement Company bought all of Block 43 from Mr. and Mrs. Wells in July, 1903. The property was sold to Oceanside resident Orville S. Hecox in November, 1905. Mr. Hecox was the principal of O.S. Hecox & Co., a general real estate investment business that rented, collected, bought, sold and exchanged properties and also negotiated loans for ranch and city real estate. It appears Mr. Hecox and his wife Hettie, who moved to Fresno in 1911, subsequently lost their Oceanside property to the Bank of Oceanside for non-payment of loans sometime prior to December, 1915. At that time, the First National Bank of Oceanside acquired title.

Jimmie Hayes, daughter-in-law of J. Chauncey Hayes and an active member of the Hayes family real estate company, purchased four lots of Block 43, Lots 9-12, in August, 1923 for $600.00. She and her husband Fred Hayes sold the four lots to Mabel H. Bossert the same day. Bossert only briefly held title, selling the lots less than two months later to Frances A. Boswell, in October, 1923. Mrs. Boswell and her husband, A.V. Boswell were real estate investors.

In August, 1925, Ed Rutherford and his wife Annie purchased Lots 9-12 from the Boswells. Edward Rutherford was a local building contractor. He acquired five other lots in the 600 block of S. Freeman Street, securing each for $2,500.00 and constructed small houses on each of the lots between 1926 and 1929. The houses were built in two styles - Spanish Eclectic, which was then at the height of popularity, and Craftsman bungalows, a more conservative style which had largely peaked about 1915.

Robert J. Harris and his wife Belle bought the subject house from Rutherford in October, 1926. Mr. Harris was an employee of Charles G. Borden and Company, a contract furnisher, but also an investment partner of Ed Rutherford. He and his wife had purchased the lot and house at 603 S. Freeman from Rutherford in 1924 as their residence. The subject property, located just down the street, may have been purchased by them as income property for their daughter Beth Harris, who took title to the house from her parents in January, 1930. This supposition is supported by an article appearing in the Oceanside Blade (April 24, 1924) announced that Rutherford and Harris had purchased Lots 1-8 on the block and intended to build houses for rent on them.

Beth Harris graduated from Oceanside-Carlsbad High School in 1919. As a teacher, Beth Harris French, she first taught at the Horne Street School, but went on to become a very popular teacher at the Americanization School, transferring there about 1927.

In 1928, the voter registration list shows the subject property occupied by Mrs. J.W. Weber. Title to the house was deeded back to Mr. and Mrs. Harris in April, 1932, and the house was sold to Etta W. Boucher in August, 1934. Boucher also owned the house at 626 S. Freeman Street. Henry and Lina Howe rented the house in 1934.

The property then went through a quick succession of sales. Boucher sold the house to linoleum layer Allen L. Richardson and his wife Ursula Marie as their residence in August, 1935; the Richardsons sold the property to E.M. and Alice Mills in February, 1938; the Mills sold the house to Emma L. Stewart in January, 1939. Stewart rented the house to Joseph and Carol Mitchell, who are incorrectly identified as the property owners on the Voter Registration, in 1940.

Ownership finally stabilized when the subject house was purchased by Bayard T. Boylan, Jr. and his wife Gertrude in July, 1943. The Boylans resided in the house for the next 40 or so years. Mr. Boylan had previously worked as a telephone operator and both had moved to Oceanside from South Dakota about 1942.

Mrs. Boylan died in 1984 and her husband sold the house to Dolores E. Cargill and her mother Ellen S. Cargill, a resident of La Puente, California. Dolores Cargill resided in the house. She died in 1996 and left the property to her mother and father, Orville Cargill.

The current owners, Larry and Mariana Beck acquired the house from Irene Villanueva-Smith in August, 2009.

Examination of the chain of ownership and occupation establishes that the subject property was part of speculative real estate transactions for about forty years prior to the construction of the resource. Notable individuals associated with Oceanside history, including A.L. Bryan, O.S. Hecox, and Jemmie Hayes, owned the land prior to its development.

The subject resource was likely constructed by Edward Rutherford for rental income. Mr. Rutherford did not occupy the house, nor did subsequent owners Robert and Belle Harris. While Beth Harris could have resided in the house between 1930 and 1934, the residence is not directly associated with her. None of the subsequent owners and/or occupants were of historical importance.

V. REGISTER STANDARDS

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

California Environmental Quality Act. Under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), a significant historic resource is one that is eligible for listing in the California Register of Historical Resources/National Register of Historic Places or other local historic register, or is deemed significant in a historical resource survey (Section 5024.1(g) of the Public Resources Code).

In order to be eligible for listing under the California Register/National Register (the standards of which are both very similar), a resource must be significant within a historic context and must also meet one or more of the following criteria:

- Criterion A: Be associated with an event, or series of events, that have made a significant contribution to the broad pattern of history.
- Criterion B: Have an unequivocal association with the lives of people significant in the past.
- Criterion C: Embody the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction, or represents the work of a master, or possesses high artistic values, or represents a significant, distinguishable entity whose components lack individual distinction.
- Criterion D: Have yielded or may be likely to yield information important in local, state or national prehistory or history.

Additionally, under both the California Register and the National Register, a resource must not only meet at least one of the above criteria, but must also possess integrity, the various aspects of which include location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and association (National Register Bulletin 15, 1991: 11,44).

CALIFORNIA REGISTER CRITERIA AND DESIGNATION FINDINGS

When evaluated within its historic context, under CEQA a property must be shown to be significant for one or more of the four Criteria for Evaluation – A, B, C, or D. The Criteria describe how properties are significant for their association with important events or persons, for their importance in design or construction, or for their information potential. In addition, a property must not only be shown to be significant under the California Register criteria, but it also must have integrity.

CRITERION A: Event. To be considered for listing under Criterion A, a property must be associated with one or more events important in the defined historic context. The event or trends must clearly be important within the associated context. Mere association with historic events or trends is not enough, in and of itself, to qualify under Criterion A, the property's specific association must be considered important as well.

FINDING: The 618 S. Freeman Street property is not associated with a historical event or events. Therefore, it does not qualify under Criterion A.

CRITERION B: Person. Criterion B applies to properties associated with individuals whose specific contributions to history can be identified and documented. Persons "significant in our past" refers to individuals whose activities are demonstrably important within a local, state, or national historic context. The criterion is generally restricted to those properties that illustrate (rather than commemorate) a person's important achievements. The persons associated with the property must be individually significant within a historic context. Significant individuals must be directly associated with the nominated property.

Properties eligible under Criterion B are usually those associated with a person's productive life, reflecting the time period when he or she achieved significance. Speculative associations are not acceptable. Documentation must make clear how the nominated property represents an individual's significant contributions. A property must retain integrity from the period of its significant historic associations. Architects are often represented by their works, which are eligible under Criterion C. Their homes, however, can be eligible for consideration under Criterion B, if these properties were personally associated with the individual.

FINDING: No one of historical importance is directly associated with the subject resource. The resource is not significant under Criterion B.

CRITERION C: Design/Construction. Properties may be eligible under Criterion C if they embody the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction, or that represent the work of a master, or that possess high artistic values, or that represent a significant and distinguishable entity whose components may lack individual distinction. Properties which embody the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction refer to the way in which a property was conceived, designed, or fabricated by a people or culture in past periods of history. Distinctive characteristics are the physical features or traits that commonly recur in individual types, periods, or methods of construction. To be eligible, a property must clearly contain enough of those characteristics to be considered a true representative of a particular type, period, or method of construction.

A master is a figure of generally recognized greatness in a field, a known craftsman of consummate skill, or an anonymous craftsman whose work is distinguishable from others by its characteristic style and quality. The property must express a particular phase in the development of the master's career, an aspect of his or her work, or a particular theme in his or her craft.

FINDING: The subject resource is a good, local example of modest Craftsman architecture, displaying many features common to this style. It therefore qualifies for local listing under the architectural aspect of Criterion C.

Edward Rutherford is not recognized as a master builder and therefore the property is not eligible for listing under the master builder aspect of Criterion C.

CRITERION D: Information Potential. Properties may be eligible under Criterion D if they have yielded, or may be likely to yield, information important in prehistory or history.

FINDING: The subject property is unlikely to yield information important in prehistory or history. Therefore, the resource is not eligible for listing under Criterion D.

Integrity. Integrity is the ability of a property to convey and maintain its significance. A property must not only be shown to be significant under the California Register criteria, but it also must have integrity. To retain historic integrity, a property will always possess several, and usually most, of the aspects. The seven key aspects of integrity include: location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and association.

Location. Location is the place where the historic property was constructed or the place where the historic event occurred.

FINDING: The location of the 618 S. Freeman Street residence has remained the same since its construction in 1926. The building, therefore, retains its location element for integrity purposes.

Materials. Materials are the physical elements that were combined or deposited during a particular period of time and in a particular pattern or configuration to form a historic property.

FINDING: As verified by the Residential Building Record, the 618 S. Freeman Street residence was constructed of average quality materials for the time. It was not built of anything exceptional or unusual. The majority of these materials remain present, and are in excellent condition.

Workmanship. Workmanship is the physical evidence of the crafts of a particular culture or people during any given period in history or prehistory.

FINDING: The quality of workmanship demonstrated in the construction of the 618 S. Freeman Street residence is described by the Residential Building Record as average. Since the building contains a sufficient degree of the workmanship used in its execution, the building possesses a workmanship element for integrity purposes.

Feeling. Feeling is a property's expression of the aesthetic or historic sense of a particular period of time.

FINDING: The house retains its Craftsman style feeling.

Association. Association is the direct link between an important historic event or person and a historic property.

FINDING; The subject residence is not linked directly to an important historic event, person, or historic property.

CONCLUSION

The subject resource has been found eligible for listing under Criterion C and retains more than sufficient integrity. Therefore, the resource is considered to be significant and eligible for historical designation and listing in the Oceanside historical register.

IV. SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR'S STANDARDS FOR THE TREATMENT OF HISTORIC PROPERTIES

Resources identified as eligible for listing in local, state, or federal registers may be modified and fall under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Interior. The 1992 Secretary of the Interior's Standards For the Treatment of Historic Properties discusses the manner in which historic resources are to be preserved, used, rehabilitated, and/or modified:

1. A property shall be used as it was historically or be given a new use that requires minimal change to its distinctive materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships.

2. The historic character of a property shall be retained and preserved. The removal of distinctive materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize a property shall be avoided.

3. Each property shall be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Changes that create a false sense of historical development, such as adding conjectural features or elements from other historic properties, shall not be undertaken.

4. Changes to a property that have acquired historic significance in their own right shall be retained and preserved.

5. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a property shall be preserved.

6. Deteriorated historic features shall be repaired rather than replaced. When the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature shall match the old in design, color, texture, and where possible, materials. Replacement of missing features shall be substantiated by documentary and physical evidence.

7. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, shall be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials shall not be used.

8. Archaeological resources shall be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures shall be undertaken.

9. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction shall not destroy historic materials, features, and spatial relationships that characterize the property. The new work shall be differentiated from the old and shall be compatible with the historic materials, features, size, scale and proportion, and massing to protect the integrity of the property and its environment.

10. New additions and adjacent or related new construction shall be undertaken in such a manner that, if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

APPLICATION OF THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR'S STANDARDS TO THE RESOURCE AT 618 S. FREEMAN STREET ADDITION

1. A property shall be used as it was historically or be given a new use that requires minimal change to its distinctive materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships

FINDING: The use of the resource as a residence remains unchanged.

2. The historic character of a property shall be retained and preserved. The removal of distinctive materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize a property shall be avoided.

FINDING: The historic character of the residence has been retained and preserved. Distinctive materials have not been removed and the character defining relationships of the building were not altered. All modifications lie behind the house and are out of public view.

3. Each property shall be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Changes that create a false sense of historical development, such as adding conjectural features or elements from other historic properties, shall not be undertaken.

FINDING: The addition to the house does not alter the physical record of the building's time, place, and use.

4. Changes to a property that have acquired historic significance in their own right shall be retained and preserved.

FINDING: Historic changes to the subject house were not present prior to construction of the addition.

5. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a property shall be preserved.

FINDING; All materials, features, finishes, construction techniques, and examples of craftsmanship were preserved or restored.

6. Deteriorated historic features shall be repaired rather than replaced. When the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature shall match the old in design, color, texture, and where possible, materials. Replacement of missing features shall be substantiated by documentary and physical evidence.

FINDING: All deteriorated historic features were repaired and/or restored.

7. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, shall be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials shall not be used.

FINDING: Chemical and physical treatments were not used.

8. Archaeological resources shall be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures shall be undertaken

FINDING: Archaeological resources are not present.

9. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction shall not destroy historic materials, features, and spatial relationships that characterize the property. The new work shall be differentiated from the old and shall be compatible with the historic materials, features, size, scale and proportion, and massing to protect the integrity of the property and its environment.

FINDING: Construction of the addition did not destroy historic materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterized the original building. The addition, while sympathetic in style, is discernible from the existing construction in terms of lineal footprint and the introduction of different door styles and window shapes. The addition design does not replicate that of the existing house and further is compatible in feeling, scale, and mass.

10. New additions and adjacent or related new construction shall be undertaken in such a manner that, if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

FINDING: If the addition were to be removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

V. CONCLUSION

The subject resource at 618 S. Freeman Street has been found to be in compliance with the 1992 Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties.

e. Other Locational Data (e.g., parcel #, directions to resource, elevation, etc., as appropriate): The subject property is located in Section 26, Township 11 South, Range 5 West, on the USGS 7.5' San Luis Rey quadrangle. The legal description of the property is Lot 12, Block 43 of Bryans Addition; the Assessor's Parcel Number is 150-302-11.

*P3a. Description (Describe resource and its major elements. Include design, materials, condition, alterations, size, setting, and boundaries): The resource is an example of a small Craftsman bungalow-style single-family residence. The wood framed, rectangular one story building has a medium pitched, front gabled, composition shingled roof with narrow open eaves and exposed rafters. The roof ridges are crested and a horizontal louvered vent sits beneath the front gable apex. The shiplap-clad house has a symmetrical front facade and rests on a concrete foundation. Wood edge boards define the corners of the house. A shouldered stucco end chimney is located on the south side wall. A recently constructed addition is located behind the original house and links the dwelling to the formerly detached single-car garage at the rear of the property. The majority of the windows are original to the building and consist of single and paired, rectangular wood framed double hungs with multi-paned uppers and are set inside wide wood trim. Two front focal double hung windows flank the entry door; the multi-paned uppers are original, the lower panes have been replaced with safety glass.

Primary access to the building is from the sidewalk, along a central concrete walkway, up three pier walled concrete steps, to the concrete floored, three quarter length, half walled shiplap-clad porch. Two round columns on simple plinths support the front gabled porch roof. Low brick planters run along the front portions of the porch. The original wide single Craftsman-style wood entry door has an upper glass pane with multiple lites (see continuation sheet).

The original single-car garage takes access from a short concrete driveway off the alley located east of the property. The garage roof is front gabled and the walls are clad with shiplap siding. The original wood sliding garage door has been retained.

Landscaping consists of well-maintained front and rear lawns and flower beds. The side yards and a portion of the rear of the yard are enclosed by high wood fencing and by the garage. The landscaping is in excellent condition. The Residential Building Record describes the architectural attributes and workmanship of the house as average. The house has been maintained and has been restored to excellent condition.

The current owner restored the front of the house as part of the 2010 project, which also added the new portion of the house. The addition, which is completely obscured from public view, enclosed a previous breezeway between an older small addition constructed in 1944, the rear of the existing house, and the garage. It includes bump outs on the north and south sides of the house, a new patio leading out into the back yard, and a new pergola-covered patio on the south side of the house, and a gable-covered porch on the east side of the house.

The long, rectangular shape of the addition and the bump outs clearly delineate the new portions of the house from the old. Further, a leaded glass window, double French patio doors, and differently shaped double hung emphasize the new addition while maintaining compatibility with the original house. In all, the addition added about 500 sq ft to the existing 924 sq ft house.

Most of the early history of the subject property is associated with real estate speculation. According to the chain of title prepared by California Lot Books, the first recorded deed transaction associated with the property occurred in June, 1887, when local land investor A.L. Bryan sold a half interest in a large number of holdings, including the subject lot, to David C. Reed. Mr. Bryan had previously subdivided the tract in 1885, which is named for him. Mr. Reed was a real estate developer, who purchased his interest in the property for $35,000, a very large sum of money for the time.

The men sold all of Block 43 to W.H. Cook of Monrovia, California and C. De Roberts of Albion, Nebraska for $4,000.00 in March, 1888. Mr. Cook and Mr. De Roberts and their wives sold the block along with other holdings to Frederick and Agnes Gregg in June, 1900. Mr. Gregg was also a real estate developer who resided in Redlands at the time of the transaction.

About two years later, Karl G. Wells and his wife Marie acquired title to the parcels previously owned by Gregg. Mr. Wells also of Redlands, was a real estate broker and investor. After selling the subject lot in 1903, Mr. Wells subsequently built the Breakers Hotel in 1904 on one of the other parcels he owned; he built himself a residence on another of his properties on Pacific Street.

The Oceanside Improvement Company bought all of Block 43 from Mr. and Mrs. Wells in July, 1903. The property was sold to Oceanside resident Orville S. Hecox in November, 1905. Mr. Hecox was the principal of O.S. Hecox & Co., a general real estate investment business that rented, collected, bought, sold and exchanged properties and also negotiated loans for ranch and city real estate. It appears Mr. Hecox and his wife Hettie, who moved to Fresno in 1911, subsequently lost their Oceanside property to the Bank of Oceanside for non-payment of loans sometime prior to December, 1915. At that time, the First National Bank of Oceanside acquired title.

Jemie Hayes, daughter-in-law of J. Chauncey Hayes and an active member of the Hayes family real estate company, purchased four lots of Block 43, Lots 9-12, in August, 1923 for $600.00. She and her husband Fred Hayes sold the four lots to Mabel H. Bossert the same day. Bossert only briefly held title, selling the lots less than two months later to Frances A. Boswell, in October, 1923. Mrs. Boswell and her husband, A.V. Boswell were real estate investors.

In August, 1925, Ed Rutherford and his wife Annie purchased Lots 9-12 from the Boswells. Edward Rutherford was a local building contractor. He acquired five other lots in the 600 block of S. Freeman Street, securing each for $2,500.00 and constructed small houses on each of the lots between 1926 and 1929. The houses were built in two styles - Spanish Eclectic, which was then at the height of popularity, and Craftsman bungalows, a more conservative style which had largely peaked about 1915.

Robert J. Harris and his wife Belle bought the subject house from Rutherford in October, 1926. Mr. Harris was an employee of Charles G. Borden and Company, a contract furnisher, but also an investment partner of Ed Rutherford. He and his wife had purchased the lot and house at 603 S. Freeman from Rutherford in 1924 as their residence. The subject property, located just down the street, may have been purchased by them as income property for their daughter Beth Harris, who took title to the house from her parents in January, 1930. This supposition is supported by an article appearing in the Oceanside Blade (April 24, 1924) announced that Rutherford and Harris had purchased Lots 1-8 on the block and intended to build houses for rent on them.

Beth Harris graduated from Oceanside-Carlsbad High School in 1919. As a teacher, Beth Harris French, she first taught at the Horne Street School, but went on to become a very popular teacher at the Americanization School, transferring there about 1927.

In 1928, the voter registration list shows the subject property occupied by Mrs. J.W. Weber. Title to the house was deeded back to Mr. and Mrs. Harris in April, 1932, and the house was sold to Etta W. Boucher in August, 1934. Boucher also owned the house at 626 S. Freeman Street. Henry and Lina Howe rented the house in 1934.

Ownership finally stabilized when the subject house was purchased by Bayard T. Boylan, Jr. and his wife Gertrude in July, 1943. The Boylans resided in the house for the next 40 or so years. Mr. Boylan had previously worked as a telephone operator and both had moved to Oceanside from South Dakota about 1942.

Mrs. Boylan died in 1984 and her husband sold the house to Dolores E. Cargill and her mother Ellen S. Cargill, a resident of La Puente, California. Dolores Cargill resided in the house. She died in 1996 and left the property to her mother and father, Orville Cargill.

The current owners, Larry and Mariana Beck acquired the house from Irene Villanueva-Smith in August, 2009.

The subject resource is part of an enclave of buildings constructed by building contractor Edward Rutherford on the 600 block of S. Freeman Street from 1924-1929. Twelve of these resources were included in the City's 1992 Cultural Resource Survey, but the 618 S. Freeman Street house was overlooked, probably as an oversight, as it is clearly part of this development and was in good condition at the time the survey was conducted. All the houses built on the block by Rutherford are good, cohesive examples of middle-class residential development in Oceanside prior to the Great Depression era.

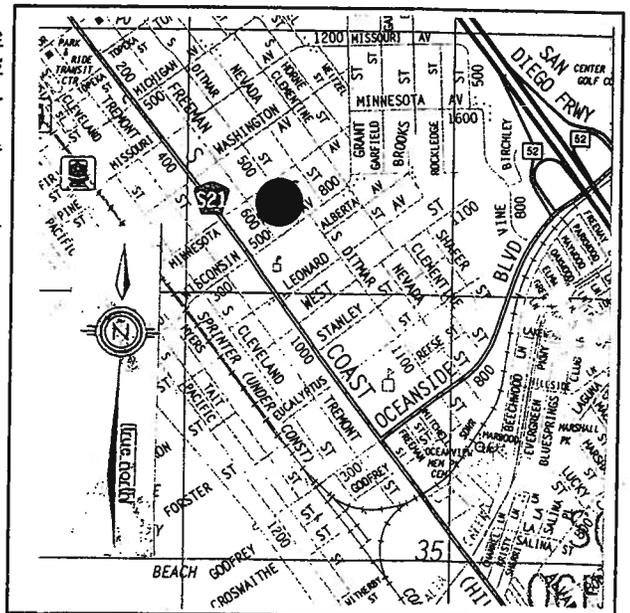

The subject building is typical of its setting. Edwin Rutherford, a local building contractor, used two architectural styles for his houses, apparently intended for use as rentals - Spanish Eclectic and Craftsman. At the time, Spanish Eclectic was in vogue stylistically, with Craftsman somewhat out of date. Rutherford may have used previously used plans for the latter, modifying each slightly to create character on the block.

No individuals of national, state or local historic standing are directly associated with the building. It is not the work of a master architect or craftsman, it is not constructed of rare or unique materials, and no known historic events are associated with it. The building is unlikely to yield important information relevant to local, state or national history. The integrity of its location, association, design, feeling, workmanship, and setting are intact; the original portions of the house have been restored. An addition completed in 2010, is located between the house and the formerly detached garage and is obscured from public view by wooden fences. The addition is differentiated from the house by use of shape, structural elements, window shapes, and door styles. The subject resource qualifies for listing in the Oceanside historical resources inventory under Criterion C. Further, the addition meets the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties.

GENERAL INFORMATION

•Section 23790 of the Business and Professions Code says that ABC may not issue a retail license contrary to a valid zoning ordinance. This form will help us determine whether your proposed business is properly zoned for alcoholic beverage sales.

•A conditional use permit (CUP) (Item 11) is a special zoning permit granted after an individual review of proposed land-use has been made. CUP's are used in situations where the proposed use may create hardships or hazards to neighbors and other community members who are likely to be affected by the proposed use. The ABC district office will not make a final recommendation on your license application until after the local CUP review process has been completed. If the local government denies the CUP, ABC must deny your license application.

23790. Zoning ordinances. No retail license shall be issued for any premises which are located in any territory where the exercise of the rights and privileges conferred by the license is contrary to a valid zoning ordinance of any county or city.

Premises which had been used in the exercise of those rights and privileges at a time prior to the effective date of the zoning ordinance may continue operation under the following conditions:

(a) The premises retain the same type of retail liquor license within a license classification.

(b) The licensed premises are operated continuously without substantial change in mode or character of operation.

For purposes of this subdivision, a break in continuous operation does not include:

(1) A closure for not more than 30 days for purposes of repair, if that repair does not change the nature of the licensed premises and does not increase the square footage of the business used for the sale of alcoholic beverages.

(2) The closure for restoration of premises rendered totally or partially inaccessible by an act of God or a toxic accident, if the restoration does not increase the square footage of the business used for the sale of alcoholic beverages.
